Dear Eyyoon

Dr. George Habash, a Palestinian leader, went to France to have some surgery done. Habash was held in the hospital and going later put on trial for his organization's actions. However, Habash left France in OK condition.

This is important because it will affect the French Palestinian relations. This will probably weaken the bond between the two countries.

This articles states that France and the U.S. are having arguments over control over U.N. peacekeeping forces. The Soviet had also wanted the United States to have a say.

This will obviously cause disputes and problems between Europe and the U.S. Among these are the Persian Gulf, and other problems which may arise.

President Bush and Yeltsin have created an end of friendship, and an end to the Cold War. Bush shows prestige towards Yeltsin, much like he did towards Gorbachev. The declaration state that the U.S. and Russia will no longer be "competitors", and instead will be friends with a relationship based on mutual trust.

The impact of this is obvious. The Soviet Union no longer exists, and Russia is on good terms with the U.S. The cold war is also at an end. Russian exports will probably increase, as will trade/tourism ~~will also~~
